Differences of Opinion Over Construction of Salary Clause in Charter.

MAYOR'S INCREASE HELD UP

If Not Acted On in December, New Complications May Arise.

Differences of opinion have developed as to the proper construction of the provisions of the new city charter in regard to fixing the pay of city officials and employes not under the Administrative Board. The discussion officials and employes not under the Administrative Board. The discussion arises as a sequence to the remarks of Mr. Puller in the Committee on Ordinances. Charter and Reform on Tuesday night, in which he sharged a general scramble on the part of certain leaser employes to get their pay raised before the Administrative Board takes charge. At the same time, sitting in secret session the Committee on Finance recommended to the Council tenor a dozen salary increase ordinances. Chairman Grundy declining to make public the names of those who win the plums. For some reason not made public, the committee tabled the ordinance increasing the salary of the Mayor, a magter which it was between would have almost unanimous approval. Several other papers are pending granting increases in pay, which originated, as in the case of the Mayor, not with the officials themselves, but with councilmen who considered it a wise policy to encourage progressive and active men. As these increases were not solicited by the incumbents themselves, but were offered in recognition of their services, they should not be classed as "salary grabs."

What Charter States.

But the contention has now arisen whether after January 1 the Council can, without reference to the Administrative Board, increase any salary. It was certainly the intention of the committee which drew the new plan of government to give the new board large powers over the departments under its direction, and that the pay of such officers as the board elects, after once being fixed by the Council, should not be increased by the Council, should not be increased.

One True Medicinal Whiskey DENNY PRESIDING Beware of Imitations

While substitution is not a part of modern merchandising, it is still practiced to a greater or less degree by a few merchants who haven't the courage to compete with their fellows along legitimate, fair, lines, or who do not care for their customers' health, but their own

And any merchant who prac-tices substitution is unworthy of the public's confidence.

When a remedy has been before the public for more than half a century, has been prescribed and used by the best doctors and in prominent hospitals, when it has carried the blessings of health into as many thousands of homes of the sick as Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has, imitations are bound to arise. Be sure you get the genuine.
